Subject: Opinion: microsoft settlement does not address problem sufficiently

I would like to voice my concern over the proposed settlement between Microsoft and the DOJ. Given that Microsoft has been found *guilty* of violating antitrust law and abusing its power in the computer operating system market, I feel that the measures outlined in the settlement will do little to redress this problem. In fact, I believe that some proposed "corrective" measures (i.e. those addressed at schools) will in fact have just the opposite effect, and will serve to strengthen Microsoft's monopoly position.

I would like to ask that more effective measures be proposed to bring about the changes required to prevent Microsoft from continuing to abuse its monopoly position.

Thank you. Sincerely,

Raymond H. Kraft, Ph.D.
